

WHAT IS CHILDHOOD APRAXIA OF SPEECH? (CAS)

Childhood Apraxia of Speech is a speech sound disorder. What does that mean? Well, it means children, teenagers, and adults with this have difficulty saying what they want to say. They always know what they want to say. However, it doesn't always come out how they would like to.

HOW CAN I SUPPORT SOMEBODY WITH CHILDHOOD APRAXIA OF SPEECH?

People with CAS go to speech therapy to work on their speech. However, more support is needed! People with CAS need to be supported by being accepted for who they are, included in all activities, and be sure to give them time to speak! They have a lot they want to say.

HOW CAN I MAKE SURE A PERSON IS INCLUDED WITH CHILDHOOD APRAXIA OF SPEECH?

Children, teenagers, and adults with CAS want to be included in everything their peers do! Just because they might not speak the same way as you do doesn't mean they don't communicate. There are all sorts of ways to communicate! From a person's verbal speech, communication devices, sign language, hand gestures, facial expressions, and more! Please find out how you can communicate with them the best!
